

We're very pleased with our new gutters. The job was done in a timely manner and the crew did a great job on cleaning up the job site.

Amy Brand - Champlin, Minnesota

I just had my gutters replaced by The Gutter Depot of Anoka, Mn. and I am very satisfied with the work. I would recommend them to anyone. They were there the day they said they would be and my gutters were completed in only one day as promised.

Cary Ledeaux - Mora, Minnesota

I am writing in regards to the gutter job we had done by The Gutter Depot, Inc. We are very pleased with their work. They were very considerate and fast at getting the job done. They left the yard nice and clean, leaving us very little to clean up. We highly recommend this company for a job well done.

Corey Lehtinen - Maple Grove, Minnesota

The Gutter Depot did a great job from start to finish. When they completed our project we then hired them to install gutters on my mother's house, who is 89 years old. From the sales rep, to the laborers, they were very thoughtful, kind, and a pleasure to work with. Both projects turned out beautiful. I would recommend them to anyone.

Dave Johannes - Minneapolis, Minnesota

This may be informal, but we want to go on record with positive feedback for The Gutter Depot. Their customer service was superb, and the work was professionally and expertly done. The work was on schedule and completed as promised, and the price was great. I would encourage others to use The Gutter Depot and in fact have already recommended them to a friend, who also used them. Thanks again,

John Wood - Princeton, Minnesota

Thanks again, Joe. The job looks great. I'll give your card and recommend you to others in the future.

Rain gutters are one of your home's most important protections against the elements. Gutters serve to redirect rainwater and any other precipitation flowing from your roof away from the immediate perimeter of your house. This prevents damage to your home/business' siding and foundation that otherwise would occur. Gathering the runoff from your roof and diverting it away from your siding and foundation to where it will do the least amount of harm is crucial in maintaining the integrity of any home/business.

People Stay Dryer

Gutters prevent water from flowing off the roof and over entrances to the home/business. They keep people dry as they enter and leave the home/business. Even a light rainfall can create a sheet of water that runs off the edge of the roof.

Houses Stay Neater

Water falling from the edge of a roof can splash dirt on the lower part of the exterior walls as it strikes the ground. It can harm flowers and delicate shrubs and break down mulch.

Gutters Prevent Rot

Homes and businesses without gutters are more likely to experience wood rot on the fascia and soffit as water exiting the roof finds openings in the paint and caulking. Properly installed and maintained gutters keep water away from wood and funnel it to the ground or storm water system.

Gutters Prevent Erosion

Water that falls uncontrolled from a rooftop has to go somewhere. In a heavy rain, a high volume of water flowing away from the house/business can erode the dirt around it. This can cause ponding in the yard, which can lead to muddy soil and damaged grass.

Keep Basements Dry

The most important task of a gutter is to funnel water away from basement walls. Water that falls from a roof can saturate the ground near the foundation. Over time, the water will find its way down and through the foundation walls due to hydrostatic pressure. The result is cracks in basement walls and eventually flooding in the basement. Even without cracks, sitting water can soak through the basement wall and result in a buckled foundation and costly repairs.

Keep Foundations Stable

Water sitting near a foundation wall eventually works its way under the foundation, causing it to settle. The walls on the settled part of the foundation can then separate from the rest of the house.
